Audio Description

Bringing Content Alive for the Visually Impaired

Audio Description helps people who are visually impaired enjoy movies and TV shows, and helps them participate more fully in society. It is even mandatory for broadcasters in countries like the UK (Ofcom), Canada (CRTC), and the USA (FCC). With approximately 285 million visually impaired people across the globe, Audio Description is rapidly gaining popularity worldwide. The challenge for broadcasters is to find a reliable partner to produce low cost Audio Description adhering to international regulatory parameters, with quick turnaround times.
